

Wild Birds Need Your Help!

A recent study of bird populations in North America published in the journal Science revealed that nearly 3 billion fewer wild birds are alive today compared to avian abundance in 1970, a loss of 29%! Many of our wild birds are at increasing risk of extinction due to threats such as habitat loss, pollution, pesticides, climate change, predation by cats, and window strikes.

What can YOU do to help? Here are twelve things you can do to give birds a better chance of survival:
